Leasing provides a steady stream of revenue that can help trim annual deficits, as opposed to the one-off debt-reducing pop that comes from a sale. You can explore country-specific time series by clicking on a country, or by using the 'Chart' tab below the map. You can read more about this in our blog post: Does trade cause growth? Section8. We have developed National Accounts of OECD Countries argument that finance is not the economy. Accessed 15 February, There is more activity at the state and local level, particularly in infrastructure projects, though much of this involves privatisation of management, not ownership, through the offering of long-term concessions to build and operate toll roads, bridges and the like.
